Trunk Show - Making Meaningful Quilts: Tell Your Story

With Amy Smart, Diary of a Quilter

10 am - 11 pm

Amy Smart has been writing the popular blog, Diary of a Quilter, for over 11 years now. She is the creator of multiple tutorials (she especially loves teaching new recruits how to quilt) and quilt patterns, including the book, Fabulously Fast Quilts. She is also a fabric designer for Riley Blake Designs. If forced to choose, she'd probably have to say pulling and playing with colors and fabric is her favorite part of the quilting process.

Border Beauties and Stripes

With Gail Berry

5 pm - 6 pm

Border Beauties and Stripes is a demo class. This will be a lecture with a lot of samples, examples, patterns and written instructions for your use. I like quilts with large center medallions or traditional stars, bordered in creative ways. I also love using stripes and this demo class will inspire you to use stripes and constructed borders to finish your pieces. I bring a lot of samples of my own work and antique quilts. You will take home easy-to-follow instructions and patterns for creating and finishing quilts with great borders. This class will give you the confidence and helpful tips to create and finish your own borders.

SATURDAY

We've Got a Surprising Answer to All of those Quilt Tops!

With My Girlfriend's Quilt Shoppe

10:30 am - 11 am

Unfinished quilt tops... We all have them! One, two.. hundreds? Well, you are not alone! Quilt tops are so much fun to piece together. But when you are finished piecing it's almost as if a whole new process has begun! So we admire it, fold it, and put it on a shelf for another day. (We are totally guilty of this!)

Well, leave it to the Girlfriends to come up with a surprising solution! Are you ready? Drum roll, please! Meet the Handi Quilter Moxie longarm machine! We know right where your brain just went... but finally there is a longarm machine that not only is affordable, but also doesn't take up tons of space!

Do you need a little more convincing? Kris and Heather from My Girlfriend's Quilt Shoppe will show you how easy and affordable it can be to take your quilts to the finish line!

Make the Quilts You Wish You Had Inherited

With Carmen Geddes, Tensisters Handicraft

11 am - Noon

Generations of quilters have awed and inspired us with spectacular quilts! Come and see the precision and beauty of antique, heirloom quilts with the fun of EasyPiecing Grid! From traditional scrappy to modern, this is for you!

Q&A with Jenny Doan

With Jenny Doan, Missouri Star Quilt Co

1 pm - 2 pm

Join Jenny Doan, the smiling face of Missouri Star, as she shares her passions for quilting and encouraging quilters. Jenny will take you on her quilting journey as she answers your questions with warmth, humor and stories from her life experiences.

The Color Blue

With Gail Berry

2 pm - 3 pm

The color blue is a favorite of cultures and people all over the world! It is certainly popular for quilt makers. In this presentation I talk about the color blue in nature, the history of indigo, why blue is not used in food, dyeing the perfect blues and how synthetic and chemically blues are formulated. At the conclusion you will understand how, why and when the color blue has been used in history and realize why it is used so often in quilts, homes, stitchery and clothes! I will bring blue quilts of my own making and antique examples. It's a fun class! You will go home with handouts, patterns, ideas and inspiration.
